Professor Alexander C. Barry's
Tricopheron, or Medicated Compound, for reactioning, preceiving, and beautifying hair, coalicating generated and muscles, stings, cots, bruses, sprains, fee,—In order to convince the public of the chiral glands and muscles, stings, cots, bruses, sprains, fee,—In order to convince the public of the chiral glands and muscles, stings, cots, bruses, sprains, fee,—In order to convince the public of the chiral glands and catective area, it is necessary to explain the philosophy of its operation. The process by which Professor Barry's Trinopherons produces such extraordin try results, cannot be understood, without a briefinities of the structure and easy of the delicate substances to which it is applied, and in the condition of which it accomplishes the most calcularly changes. The connection between the latit and the skin is so close, that the one may almost be decared a continuation of the other; and honce whatever renerates, restores, and nourishes the hair, ment of excessity have a healthful influence upon the resistive monotrane in which its roots are fixed. The skin, that wonderful envelope, in which the scace of touch resultes, consists of three layers; the epidermis, or cuticle, a semi-opaque, or almost insensible film; the rete mecasion, which is a spondermis or cuticle, a semi-opaque, or almost insensible film; the rete mecasion, which is a spondermy contained to the first the reterior of chieff to the triple envelope. It has to each of chief at the return which constitutes the third lyer of the triple envelope. It has to each of the chief at the return which constitutes the third lyer of the triple envelope. It has to each of the chief at the return of the chief at the return of the triple envelope. It has to each of the chief at the return of the chief at the return of the triple envelope. synchronial, retailisted with nerves and blood presents and forms a nort of shield, its Rengrantist which constitutes the third layer of the triple envelope. In this tough, flexible, and elastic integrament, are located the nerves, blood-ressels, &c., which supply sustenance to the hair, and in the darangement of which diseases of the skin originate. The vessels of the true skin supply the case containing the roots of the hair with the assistant which sustains the fibres, and the same causes which affect the health of the hair, also affect the health of the hair, also affect the health of the hair, also suffer the health of the kin, also affect the health of the hair, also affect the health of the flavor the health of the fibres, extinated every profice of sent and dandraff, and soon clothing even the hald or half denaded head with a thick, glossy, silky, and cluster covering. But this is only one of the uses of Professor Barry's Tricopherous. The same properties which restore vital and vegetative power to the skin of the head, are equally leacelier in all customs diseases or superficial injuries. For consideration, his of investes, speams, properties which resort viol and vegetative power to the skin of the head, are equally beacheint in all entancose diseases or superficial injectes. For cuts, lurns, bites of inceets, speains, trypipelas, blotches, pimples, sodies, ringworm, nashes, serofuka, prikkly heat, chillibrius, chapped haads, rhounatism, bunns, scalde, broises, redness of the skin, and in short, all the troublesome and pamful external diseases and injectes which are to common in families, and which multing but external remeiles can remove, the Tricopherous will be found a speedy, safe and unfifting ourc. By viruse of its double claim as a renewator and beautiful of nature's choicest continuent, and a potent and invaluable remedial agreet, it is entitled to a place on every toilet and in every medicial evers. 63-The Germanians gave a Sacred Concert Sunday evening, in the Saloon of the Ocean House. There were but few present, except the boarders at the House. They performed some of their most exquisite Secred Music, which was generally listened to with perfect ellence. These Shered Concerts certainly inspire as much reverence and purely devotional feeling as any kind of religious service at Church. The slow, ; twelling elequence of sounds, the calm, mensured endence of tones, as they. have been created and devoted to the course apply. praise of that Being who is the author of Music, which is the natural language of the soul as it communes with its ; Creater,-must always lift the thoughts and reclings of the heart from the depradation and folly of earth, up to that throne of purity around which no sound is heard except the celestial notes of golden harps which are touched by an gets and all the redeemed of heaven,and the voices of beings, who rejoice in epartual perfections

HALLECK .- It is stated that Fitz Green Halleck, the author of Fanny and Bozzarls, is engaged upon a record of his life and times.- " Fanny was younger once than she is now." Hallook is now fifty six years of age, and resides beneath the shadow of his ancentral elms, at Guilford, Cenn. He may be seen once or twice a week at Bixby's Broadway Hotel, in New Yorkwhere he generally stops. The last Griswold's International Magazine has an engraving of him. with a brief skotch of his life and literary performances. We hope it is true tent he is engaged in the composition of the literary history of his time.

POSTAGE TO CHAGRES, PANAMA, CAL- | facts were communicated to us by a ve ifornia, and Onegon.—We are request ed to ca'l the particular attention of postmasters to the rates of postage on letters to Colifornia and Oregon, and also to the foreign places (Chagres and Panama) on the route to California,

In rating letters for California and Oregon, it must be borne in mind that these countries now form a part of the United States, and are of course entitled to the advantage of the domestic rates, according to the official "tables of postages within the United States" recently sent to postmasters throughout the country. Hence we are authorized or Oregon (the distance being over 3,000 miles) is eix cents prepuld, and ten cente unpaid. On newspapers and other printed matter cent to California or Oregon, the domestic rates also of

But to Chagres and Panaina (foreign) the letter postage must be rated under that clause in the law specifying letters to be "conveyed wholly or in part by sen, and to or from a foreign country," Therefore the single-latter postage to either Chagres or Panama is ten cents, if the distance from the mailing office is under 2,500 miles, and twenty cents if the distance is over 2,500 miles; in both cases to be prepaid when the letter is sent from, and collected, when received in, the United States. To either of these places, from New York, we are informed that the distance exceeds 2,500 miles; from all the southern parts the distance is less than 2,500 miles.

As the law on these points appears, at first sight, a little doubtful, and is therefore liable to misconstruction, we think that editors of papers generally would do a public service by calling special attention to the subject. - National Intelligencer.

IMPORTANT ADMISSION,--The New York Tribune, which, since the passage of the Fugitive Slave Law, has most bitterly assailed that measure, and endeavored to rouse the cry of repeal in regard to it, thus formally proclaims in its issue of Monday last the utter hopelessness of its warfare, and retires from the field:

"We look in vain for the probability of a repeal or medification of the Fugitive Slave Law. That law we suppose is destined to remain on the statute book. We could wish it were otherwise. We could wish to have it modified in many particulars, especially by the introduction of a jury trial among its provisions. But there is not the least indication that such a change will make it. There is nowhere a great party demanding it. Public sentiment regards it with comparative indifference. There is no such overwhelming popular movement in favor of repealing or changing this law as there was at the North in 1848 and '49 against the extension of alayery. How, then, can the law be touched?"

HERRY W. LONGIELLOW, THE POET .-The Dublin University Magazine, in a review of Mr. Longfellow's works,

"With Ryperion, the public have been for some time familiar; that it is not generally known that in this exquisite little story are shadowed forth the leading incidents of the poet's life, and that he himself is he hero of his own romance. We shall give the facts as they have come to our knowledge, and we are assured they will not fail to interest our readers.

"About the year 1937, Longfellow, being engaged in making the tour of Europe, selected Heidelberg for a permanent winter residence. There his wife was attacked with an illness which ultimately proved fatal. It so happened that sometime afterwards there came to the same remantic place a young lady of considerable personal attractions.-The poct's heart was touched-he became attached to her; but the beauty of sixteen did not sympathize with the poet of thirty-six; and Longfellow returned to America having lost his heart as well as his wife. The young ladyalso an American, returned home shortly alterwards. Their residences, it turned out, were continguous, and the poet availed himself of the opportunity of prosecuting his addresses, which he did for a considerable time with no better success than at first. Thus foiled, he set himself down, and instead, like Pc-ry intelligent American gentleman whom we had the pleasure of meeting in the same place which was the scene of the poet's early disappointment and Forrowa."

How to DRAW THE SINHERS .- Several years ago we were a resident of northwestern Louisiana, near the conflues of Texas. The people there, as a general thing, were not much given to religion. An itinerant preacher happened along in the neighborhood during this dearth of religion, and set about reto say that the single rate to California pairing the walls of Zion in good carnest. But his success was poor. Not over half a dozen could be got together at his Sunday meetings. Determined. however, to create an interest before leaving the neighborhood, he procured printed handbills and had them posted up in every conspicuous place in the district, which read to the following of

> "RELIGIOUS NOTICE .-- The Rev. Mr. Blaney will preach next Sunday, in Dempsey's Grove, at 10 o'clock A, M., and at 4 P. M., Providence permitting, Between the services, the preacher will run his sorrel mare, Julia, against any ung that can be trotted out in this region, for a purse of five hundred dollars?

This had the desired effect. People flocked from all quarters, and the anxiety to see the singular preacher was evon greater than the excitement following the challenge. He preached an elegant sarmon in the morning, and after dinner he brought out his mare for the race .-The purse was made up by five or six of the planters, and an opposing mag produced. The preacher rode his little sorrel, and won the day, amid the deafening shouts, screams, and yells of the delighted (people. The congregation all remained to the afternoon service, and at its close more than two hundred joined the church; some from motives of sincerity, some for the novelty of the thing, some from excitement, and some because the preacher was a good fellow. The finale of the affair was as flourishing a society as can be found in the whole region thereabouts .- Spirit of the Times.

RIGHT KIND OF A WIFE ?- The Pagain a Herald relates the following case of clopsment : "A lady at Sau Francisco, on the morning of the sailing of the Tennessee, was quietly sented reading over the list of passengers who had engaged passage for Panama, when to her astonished sight there appeared the name of her husband in the list! Could she believe her own eves later packed and that he had informed her the was obliged to go to Sacramento on business, which would detain him for a few days." Startled and convinced by the truth thus manifested to her, she concluded to open his trunks, where she found eight thousand dollars in hard cash. This she divided, taking three thousand dollars and leaving five thousand dollarsthe "lion's share"-which was exceedingly generous on her part. In due time the affectionate husband bade her goodbye, telling her he would be back in three or four days, and little suspecting that she was not only cognizant of his villainy, but that out of his means she and provided amply for herself. He left, went on board the Tennessee, came to this city, and is new on his way to New York, whilst his described wile is rejoicing to think that she has so easily got
